

INDEX TO THE ANTITRUST BULLETIN

Volume XLVI (2001)

CONTENTS

PAGE

Index to Authors	Index-2
Index to Subjects	Index-5

GUIDE TO VOLUME XLVI

Spring	2001	Pages	1-162
Summer.....	2001	Pages	163-434
Fall	2001	Pages	435-643
Winter	2001	Pages	645-958

Index-1

INDEX TO AUTHORS

ARAI, KOKI

Recent Development of Japanese Antitrust Policy Regarding Intellectual Property Rights. XLVI:591-609.

ARNOLD, TERENCE

and Lewis Evans. Governance in the New Zealand Electricity Market: A Law and Economics Perspective on Enforcing Obligations in a Market Based on a Multilateral Contract. XLVI:611-643.

BERGERON, JAMES H.

Antitrust Federalism in the European Union After the Modernization Initiative. XLVI:513-535.

BERGMAN, MATS A.

The Role of the Essential Facilities Doctrine. XLVI:403-434.

BROCK, JAMES W.

Antitrust, the "Relevant Market," and the Vietnamization of American Merger Policy. XLVI:735-795.

COMANOR, WILLIAM S.

The Problem of Remedy in Monopolization Cases: The Microsoft Case as an Example. XLVI:115-133.

DANGER, KENNETH L.

and H.E. Frech III. Critical Thinking About "Critical Loss" in Antitrust. XLVI:339-355.

EVANS, DAVID S.

with Albert L. Nichols and Richard Schmalensee. An Analysis of the Government's Economic Case in U.S. v. Microsoft. XLVI:163-251.

EVANS, LEWIS

see Arnold, Terence

FISHER, FRANKLIN M.

and Daniel L. Rubinfeld. U.S. v. Microsoft—An Economic Analysis. XLVI:1-69.

INDEX TO AUTHORS

- FLYNN, JOHN J.
Standard Oil and Microsoft—Intriguing Parallels or Limping Analogies? XLVI:645–733.
- FRANKENA, MARK W.
Graphic Market Delineation for Electric Utility Mergers.
XLVI:357–402.
- FRECH III, H.E.
see Danger, Kenneth L.
- GIFFORD, DANIEL J.
What Is Monopolization Anyway? The D.C. Circuit Grapples With Some Perplexing Issues. XLVI:797–833.
- JACOBS, MICHAEL S.
Second Order Oligopoly Problems With International Dimensions:
Sequential Mergers, Maverick Firms and Buyer Power.
XLVI:537–568.
- KLEIN, BENJAMIN
Did Microsoft Engage in Anticompetitive Exclusionary Behavior?
XLVI:71–113.
- LANGENFELD, JAMES
and Wenqing Li. Critical Loss Analysis in Evaluating Mergers.
XLVI:299–337.
- LEE, DWIGHT R.
see McKenzie, Richard B.
- LEVINSON, ROBERT J.
with R. Craig Romaine and Steven C. Salop. The Flawed Fragmentation Critique of Structural Remedies in the Microsoft Case. XLVI:135–162.
- LI, WENQING
see Langenfeld, James
- MCKENZIE, RICHARD B. and Dwight R. Lee. How Digital Economics Revises Antitrust Thinking. XLVI:253–298.

INDEX TO AUTHORS

MINDA, GARY

Antitrust Regulability and the New Digital Economy: A Proposal for Integrating "Hard" and "Soft" Regulation. XLVI:439-511.

NICHOLS, ALBERT L.

see Evans, David S.

PORTRER, MICHAEL E.

Competition and Antitrust: Toward a Productivity-Based Approach to Evaluating Mergers and Joint Ventures. XLVI:919-958.

ROMAINE, R. CRAIG

see Levinson, Robert J.

RUBINFELD, DANIEL L.

see Fisher, Franklin M.

SALOP, STEVEN C.

see Levinson, Robert J.

SCHMALENSEE, RICHARD

see Evans, David S.

SHEPHERD, GEORGE B.

with Joanna M. Shepherd and William G. Shepherd. Antitrust and Market Dominance. XLVI:835-878.

SHEPHERD, JOANNA M.

see Shepherd, George B.

SHEPHERD, WILLIAM G.

see Shepherd, George B.

WALLER, SPENCER WEBER

New and Critical Perspectives in International Antitrust:
Introduction. XLVI:435-438.

WELLER, CHARLES D.

Can Japan Compete?: Empirical Findings Just in Time for International Antitrust Policy. XLVI:569-590.

Harmonizing Antitrust Worldwide by Evolving to Michael Porter's Dynamic Productivity Growth Analysis. XLVI:879-917.

INDEX TO SUBJECTS

ADMINISTRATION AND ENFORCEMENT

Antitrust, the "Relevant Market," and the Vietnamization of American Merger Policy. James W. Brock. XLVI:735-795.

What Is Monopolization Anyway? The D.C. Circuit Grapples With Some Perplexing Issues. Daniel J. Gifford. XLVI:797-833.

CRITICAL LOSS ANALYSIS

Critical Loss Analysis in Evaluating Mergers. James Langenfeld and Wenqing Li. XLVI:299-337.

Critical Thinking About "Critical Loss" in Antitrust. Kenneth L. Danger and H.E. Frech III. XLVI:339-355.

ECONOMICS

Digital Economics

How Digital Economics Revises Antitrust Thinking. Richard B. McKenzie and Dwight R. Lee. XLVI:253-298.

Economic Analysis

U.S. v. Microsoft—An Economic Analysis. Franklin M. Fisher and Daniel L. Rubinfeld. XLVI:1-69.

Did Microsoft Engage in Anticompetitive Exclusionary Behavior? Benjamin Klein. XLVI:71-113.

An Analysis of the Government's Economic Case in U.S. v. Microsoft. David S. Evans, Albert L. Nichols and Richard Schmalensee. XLVI:163-251.

ESSENTIAL FACILITIES DOCTRINE

The Role of the Essential Facilities Doctrine. Mats A. Bergman. XLVI:403-434.

INDEX TO SUBJECTS

FOREIGN ANTITRUST LAWS

European Union

The Role of the Essential Facilities Doctrine. Mats A. Bergman. XLVI:403-434.

Antitrust Federalism in the European Union After the Modernization Initiative. James H. Bergeron. XLVI:513-535.

Japan

Can Japan Compete?: Empirical Findings Just in Time for International Antitrust Policy. Charles D. Weller. XLVI:569-590.

Recent Development of Japanese Antitrust Policy Regarding Intellectual Property Rights. Koki Arai. XLVI:591-609.

New Zealand

Governance in the New Zealand Electricity Market: A Law and Economics Perspective on Enforcing Obligations in a Market Based on a Multilateral Contract. Terence Arnold and Lewis Evans. XLVI:611-643.

INDUSTRY STUDIES

(See also Microsoft Case)

Utility Industries

Graphic Market Delineation for Electric Utility Mergers. Mark W. Frankena. XLVI:357-402.

Governance in the New Zealand Electricity Market: A Law and Economics Perspective on Enforcing Obligations in a Market Based on a Multilateral Contract. Terence Arnold and Lewis Evans. XLVI:611-643.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS

Recent Development of Japanese Antitrust Policy Regarding Intellectual Property Rights. Koki Arai. XLVI:591-609.

INDEX TO SUBJECTS

INTERNATIONAL ANTITRUST

New and Critical Perspectives in International Antitrust: Introduction. Spencer Weber Waller. XLVI:435-438.

Antitrust Regulability and the New Digital Economy: A Proposal for Integrating "Hard" and "Soft" Regulation. Gary Minda. XLVI:439-511.

Antitrust Federalism in the European Union After the Modernization Initiative. James H. Bergeron. XLVI:513-535.

Second Order Oligopoly Problems With International Dimensions: Sequential Mergers, Maverick Firms and Buyer Power. Michael S. Jacobs. XLVI:537-568.

Can Japan Compete?: Empirical Findings Just in Time for International Antitrust Policy. Charles D. Weller. XLVI:569-590.

JOINT VENTURES

Competition and Antitrust: Toward a Productivity-Based Approach to Evaluating Mergers and Joint Ventures. Michael E. Porter. XLVI:919-958.

LANDMARK CASES

Standard Oil and Microsoft—Intriguing Parallels or Limping Analogies? John J. Flynn. XLVI:645-733.

MARKET DEFINITION

Critical Loss Analysis in Evaluating Mergers. James Langenfeld and Wenqing Li. XLVI:299-337.

Critical Thinking About "Critical Loss" in Antitrust. Kenneth L. Danger and H.E. Frech III. XLVI:339-355.

Graphic Market Delineation for Electric Utility Mergers. Mark W. Frankena. XLVI:357-402.

INDEX TO SUBJECTS

MARKET DOMINANCE

Antitrust and Market Dominance. George B. Shepherd, Joanna M. Shepherd and William G. Shepherd. XLVI:835-878.

MERGER POLICY

Antitrust, the "Relevant Market," and the Vietnamization of American Merger Policy. James W. Brock. XLVI:735-795.

MERGERS

Second Order Oligopoly Problems With International Dimensions: Sequential Mergers, Maverick Firms and Buyer Power. Michael S. Jacobs. XLVI:537-568.

Competition and Antitrust: Toward a Productivity-Based Approach to Evaluating Mergers and Joint Ventures. Michael E. Porter. XLVI:919-958.

MICHAEL PORTER'S PRODUCTIVITY PARADIGM

Can Japan Compete?: Empirical Findings Just in Time for International Antitrust Policy. Charles D. Weller. XLVI:569-590.

Harmonizing Antitrust Worldwide by Evolving to Michael Porter's Dynamic Productivity Growth Analysis. Charles D. Weller. XLVI:879-917.

Competition and Antitrust: Toward a Productivity-Based Approach to Evaluating Mergers and Joint Ventures. Michael E. Porter. XLVI:919-958.

MICROSOFT CASE

U.S. v. Microsoft—An Economic Analysis. Franklin M. Fisher and Daniel L. Rubinfeld. XLVI:1-69.

Did Microsoft Engage in Anticompetitive Exclusionary Behavior? Benjamin Klein. XLVI:71-113.

INDEX TO SUBJECTS

The Problem of Remedy in Monopolization Cases: The Microsoft Case as an Example. William S. Comanor. XLVI:115-133.

The Flawed Fragmentation Critique of Structural Remedies in the Microsoft Case. Robert J. Levinson, R. Craig Romaine and Steven C. Salop. XLVI:135-162.

An Analysis of the Government's Economic Case in U.S. v. Microsoft. David S. Evans, Albert L. Nichols and Richard Schmalensee. XLVI:163-251.

How Digital Economics Revises Antitrust Thinking. Richard B. McKenzie and Dwight R. Lee. XLVI:253-298.

Standard Oil and Microsoft—Intriguing Parallels or Limping Analogies? John J. Flynn. XLVI:645-733.

What Is Monopolization Anyway? The D.C. Circuit Grapples With Some Perplexing Issues. Daniel J. Gifford. XLVI:797-833.

Antitrust and Market Dominance. George B. Shepherd, Joanna M. Shepherd and William G. Shepherd. XLVI:835-878.

REGULATION

Antitrust Regulability and the New Digital Economy: A Proposal for Integrating "Hard" and "Soft" Regulation. Gary Minda. XLVI:439-511.

REMEDIES

The Problem of Remedy in Monopolization Cases: The Microsoft Case as an Example. William S. Comanor. XLVI:115-133.

The Flawed Fragmentation Critique of Structural Remedies in the Microsoft Case. Robert J. Levinson, R. Craig Romaine and Steven C. Salop. XLVI:135-162.

